

REMY DAVISON

communications designer + web developer +
writer

(203) 423-9562
remyedavison@gmail.com

Education

Carnegie Mellon University
Communications Design
Bachelor of Design, May 2019

Skills

Adobe Creative Suite
Digital Photography
HTML, Sass, & CSS
jQuery
Storyboarding
Video Editing
Writing (Academic & Creative)

Interests

Web design
Programming and UX/UI design
App development
Improv theatre
Lifelong actor and dancer

Honors

Recognition from Senator
Richard Blumenthal for 200+ hours and seven years of volunteer work with the Circle of Friends organization

Published in Chicken Soup for the Soul

Experience

Freelance Web Designer

2016 through current - Digital

Took client requests for custom and exclusive blog layouts and pages, both designing these themes and writing the code from scratch after clients filled out a form and sometimes submitted wireframes.

Carnegie Mellon University | Pre-College Counselor

Summer of 2016 - Pittsburgh, PA

Responsible for the safety and mentorship of forty-five high schoolers as they studied at the university for the summer, as well as serving on the community standards committee for the program.

A to A Productions | Intern

2015 - Stamford, CT

Gained experience in print-based design and the processes of color matching ink, test printing, and prototyping items like book covers and packaging.

Notable Projects

Scotch'n'Soda Theatre

Current webmaster for one of CMU's largest student organizations. Also responsible for redesigning their website and writing its code.

101 Claras To See

Book designer for the charity project "101 Claras To See," a Doctor Who inspired anthology consisting of artwork and writing. The anthology's proceeds raised hundreds of dollars for the British charity One to One Children's Fund. Additionally contributed a writing piece.